5.7	Age Requirements in Employment It is the policy of the University of Nebraska Medical Center to comply with provisions that are designed to protect young workers by limiting the types of jobs and the number of hours they work as outlined in “Child Labor Requirements in Nonagricultural Occupations Under the Fair Labor Standards Act”, Child Labor Bulletin 101, U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Wage and Hour Division, WH-1330, revised March 2001. The University of Nebraska Medical Center requires that applicants be at least 16 years of age. For some occupations deemed to be hazardous, federal law requires that applicants be 18 years of age. Restrictions on Types of Work Activities There are two sets of regulations applicable when hiring individuals that are 16 or 17 years of age: First are the federal regulations that restrict what 16 and 17 year olds can do on the job. The regulations specifically prohibit certain types of hazardous activities for 16 and 17 year olds. Under certain restrictions, employees who are 17 years of age may do occasional or incidental driving. In this context, the term “driving” means using either a personal vehicle or a University vehicle for job related reasons. We strongly advise utilizing only persons 18 years of age or older. For more information please review DOL – Fact Sheet #34.
5.7.1	Recordkeeping Requirements For Employees Under 18 Years Of Age In addition to the types of activities in which under age 18 employees can participate, there are also record keeping requirements. By regulation, employers must maintain certain information for employees who are under the age of 18 years old, including, the employee’s date of birth, daily quitting times, daily and weekly hours of work, and the occupational activities in which they are involved. While the date of birth is maintained in the employee’s SAP personnel record, each manager should ensure that the time sheets for “under 18” employees are completed in their entirety including daily starting and quitting times. Each hiring unit should also maintain, at the department location, a list of activities in which the “under 18” employee is participating.

5.7.4	Compliance Responsibility When hiring any person under the age of 18, the hiring unit must identify the essential activities in which the under 18 employee will be performing and document same for the department record.
