Active Aging Photo Contest

“Missing My Valentine”

Active Aging Photo Contest

The Interprofessional Aging Interest Group at the University of Nebraska Medical Center is sponsoring the Active Aging Photo Contest. The group is comprised of students interested in geriatric medicine, and issues involved with aging. This photo contest hopes to capture, in a small way, the character and experience of older adults and provide images that challenge stereotypes of the elderly.

- No entry fee, but we do encourage you to write a paragraph or two about the picture you are submitting (not a requirement).
- Photographers must attach a completed entry form to photos submitted. Photos lacking an entry form will not be considered. (You may copy the form).
- Each photo must include at least one person age 60 or older.
- Contest is open to amateur and professional photographers.

- Deadline: All photos must be received by March 1, 2010 and must be the original work of the person submitting it. A maximum of three prints (color or black and white) may be submitted.

- We request that the prints be 8x10 in size for display. Place each photo in protective plastic sleeve. (Zip locked bags are fine) and mail in protective envelopes or flat cardboard. (No boxes please).

- Late or damaged entries will not be considered.

- Photos will not be returned.

- Section of Geriatrics, UNMC, reserves the right to display winning photos, including honorable mentions.

- UNMC, Section of Geriatrics reserves the right to use photos in any way related to the publicity or teaching programs of the University of Nebraska for internal or external use at no cost.

- A show including all photos of considerable merit will be held with winners and honorable mentions being recognized.

- Winners and Honorable Mentions will be posted on the Section of Geriatrics website.

- A panel of judges selected by the Aging Interest Group will determine the winners.

AWARDS

Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place. Honorable mentions will be awarded with ribbons. Pictures will be displayed at a luncheon date to be announced at a later time.

Please send Photos with Entry Form (found on back) by March 20, 2009 to:
