

Nebraska SEARCH Program Financial Assistance Information

The Nebraska SEARCH Program has funding available to assist participants that supplements any financial assistance provided by academic departments or communities as part of the participant's required clinical rotation. All assistance agreements must be approved in writing by the SEARCH Program Coordinator before the participant begins his/her rotation.

Examples of reimbursement for students/residents include but are not limited to:

- Mileage to complete the community project. The SEARCH Program will not pay for mileage incurred to complete clinical-only work.
- Reasonable incidental expenses incurred as part of the community project such as copying costs, buying snacks, purchasing materials and resources, etc. These estimated expenses must be approved before incurred.
- Small stipend or reimbursement for meal expenses to assist participants with meals not provided.
- Reasonable housing for participants (if community does not provide housing). This must be approved by the Program Coordinator.
- Provide car rental if warranted by the situation. If provided, further mileage will not be paid.

Funding is determined on an individual basis. Please contact the Nebraska SEARCH Program Coordinator for further information.
