

Resources

To better assist you with finding continuing education programs suited to your interests and profession, we have organized this list of links on a local, regional and national basis.

Local

UNMC Center for Continuing Education

The Center for Continuing Education is dedicated to the promotion of life-long learning for healthcare professionals through the transformation of information into knowledge.

Creighton University Continuing Medical Education Division

The mission of the Continuing Medical Education Division is to develop, facilitate and coordinate high-quality continuing medical education for faculty, and other physicians and healthcare professionals. The CME Division will provide educational opportunities so physicians may maintain and enhance the quality of the clinical practice and health sciences/medical scholars may become better teachers or researchers.

Children's Hospital Educational Services

Services include: providing patient education materials for use by referring physicians; outreach education for physicians, nurses, other professionals and community groups; teaching pediatric courses for Nebraska Emergency Medical Transport personnel; and teaching courses in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, PALS, and NALS.

Return to top of page.

Regional

Central Group on Educational Affairs

The Central Group on Educational Affairs of the Association of American Medical Colleges is a regional organization of 34 medical schools. The purpose of the CGEA is to encourage and facilitate communication among members and to provide a forum for the discussion of medical education matters.

Return to top of page.

National

American Academy of Pediatrics Professional Education

The American Academy of Pediatrics is dedicated to the health of all children and committed to the attainment of optimal physical, mental, and social health and well-being for all infants, children, adolescents, and young adults. The AAP offers a variety of courses and continuing medical education opportunities.

Association of American Medical Colleges

The AAMC has as its purpose the improvement of the nation's health through the advancement of medical schools and teaching hospitals. As an association of medical schools, teaching hospitals, and academic societies, the AAMC works with its members to set a national agenda for medical education, biomedical research, and health care, and assists its members by providing services at the national level that facilitate the accomplishment of their missions. In pursuing its purpose, the Association works to strengthen the quality of medical education and training, to enhance the search for biomedical knowledge, to advance research in health sciences, and to integrate education into the provision of effective health care. Today the Association carries out a broad range of programs and studies to represent its constituents.

Return to top of page.