

Research Projects

The Department of Psychiatry encourages faculty to participate in original research. Faculty members serve as mentors to psychiatry residents who express a desire to be introduced to research skills. Opportunities exist for medical students and basic science students to become involved in research, both during the academic year and during the summer recess