College of Allied Health Professions

Convocation
December 2020
College of Allied Health Professions

Cardiovascular Interventional Technologists inject dye into blood vessels and take special images. These images show how well the blood vessel is working, and the techs use them during various treatments.

Clinical Perfusionists run a complicated machine that works like a person’s heart and lungs. This keeps a person alive while their heart is stopped for open-heart surgery. The perfusionist also runs equipment that saves and cleans blood during operations.

Computed Tomography Technologists use special X-rays to take pictures of very thin layers of bones and organs inside the body and look for injury or disease.

Cytotechnologists look at cells from various parts of the human body under a microscope. They find different infections, diseases, and cancers.

Diagnostic Medical Sonographers use special machines that send sound waves into a patient’s body. The sound waves, which are too high to hear, do not hurt the body, but they can make pictures that help understand organs and find diseases.

Genetic Counselors are trained in genetics and counseling. They teach and support people who might get or have a genetic disease.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging Technologists use a machine with a large magnet connected to a computer. The machine makes pictures of organs and structures inside the body to help find diseases or injuries.

Medical Laboratory Scientists use special equipment to perform many different laboratory tests on fluids taken from a patient. These include blood, saliva, or urine. The tests identify and help treat diseases.

Medical Nutrition Therapists (Registered Dietitian Nutritionists) are experts on food and nutrition. They use nutrition science to assess status, to help people stay healthy, and to treat chronic diseases.

Occupational Therapists help patients who have diseases or injuries get better at the things everyone does every day to take care of themselves. These include eating, bathing, toileting, and working.

Physical Therapists use exercises to help people walk and move better, when they are hurt or have diseases. They use special equipment, strengthening, stretching, and other exercises.

Physician Assistants work with doctors to help patients get better. They do checkups, find illness or diseases, prescribe medicines, help perform surgeries, and talk with patients about their care.

Radiation Therapists give daily treatments to people who have cancer. They use special equipment to give the right amount of radiation to the exact area of a patient’s body.

Radiographers use special machines that take X-rays to make pictures of tissues, organs, bones, and vessels inside the human body.
