CLPR 975 Clinical Perfusion Preceptorship course

Clinical Perfusion Preceptorship is a free course developed for UNMC clinical faculty to help in training our CPE perfusion students. This course covers the status of perfusion education, regulatory mandates for perfusion education imposed by national agencies, coverage of competency expectations, and suggested techniques to improve clinical preceptor skills.

Participants will have opportunity for open dialogue with the Program Director for his suggestions for clinical preceptors as well as to review available tools.

- Pass / Non-Pass Online Course not for academic credit
- Offered in the Fall and Spring semesters
- For clinical instructors of UNMC clinical perfusion students
