

Project PEACE Part 2: Anxiety Disorders

ACTIVITY DESCRIPTION

This course provides a comprehensive exploration of anxiety disorders as outlined in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, 5th Edition (DSM-5TR). In the first module, you will examine a range of anxiety disorders, including generalized anxiety disorder, separation anxiety disorder, selective mutism, and specific phobia. The second module will build upon this foundation, offering an in-depth review of additional anxiety-related disorders, such as social anxiety disorder, panic disorder, agoraphobia, and others. By the end of this course, you will gain a thorough understanding of numerous anxiety disorders, their characteristics, and diagnostic criteria.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This accredited continuing education activity is intended for primary care providers (physicians, NPs, PAs), and Nurses (RNs).

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this accredited continuing education activity, the participant should be better able to:

- Identify the indications of anxiety that primary care providers should recognize.
- Define various anxiety disorders, their manifestations, and their impact.
- Apply strategies to improve the lives of patients suffering from anxiety disorders.
- Differentiate the features that characterize generalized anxiety disorder, separation anxiety disorder, selective mutism, and specific phobia.
- Recognize why primary care providers should familiarize themselves with symptoms of anxiety disorders.
- Identify the features characterizing social anxiety disorder, panic disorder, agoraphobia, and other anxiety disorders outlined in DSM-5TR.

DISCLOSURE DECLARATION

As a jointly accredited provider, the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) ensures accuracy, balance, objectivity, independence, and scientific rigor in its educational activities and is committed to protecting learners from promotion, marketing, and commercial bias. Faculty (authors, presenters, speakers) are encouraged to provide a balanced view of therapeutic options by utilizing either generic names or other options available when utilizing trade names to ensure impartiality.

All faculty, planners, and others in a position to control continuing education content participating in a UNMC-accredited activity are required to disclose all financial relationships with ineligible companies. As defined by the Standards for Integrity and Independence in Accredited Continuing Education, ineligible companies are organizations whose primary business is producing, marketing, selling, re-selling, or distributing healthcare products used by or on patients. The accredited provider is responsible for mitigating relevant financial relationships in accredited continuing education. Disclosure of these commitments and/or relationships is included in these activity materials so that participants may formulate their own judgments in interpreting its content and evaluating its recommendations.

This activity may include presentations in which faculty may discuss off-label and/or investigational use of pharmaceuticals or instruments not yet FDA-approved. Participants should note that the use of products outside currently FDA-approved labeling should be considered experimental and are advised to consult current prescribing information for FDA-approved indications.

All materials are included with the permission of the faculty. The opinions expressed are those of the faculty and are not to be construed as those of UNMC.
