

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMMING MODEL

To meet the ever-evolving needs of faculty, the Office of Faculty Development offers an assortment of different programs every year based on the feedback of our faculty and staff. These events are carefully planned and designed to help UNMC faculty reach their full potential as a:

TEACHER

Programs which emphasize the development of faculty skills involving instructional technology, small group teaching, simulation, courses, and curriculum design.

LEADER

Programs aimed to enhance the critical skills faculty need to be more effective leaders in their current and future roles at UNMC.

COACH/MENTOR

Programs which allow faculty members to formulate their own learning goals and to find value in the personal and professional collaborations for learning.

YOUR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

SCHOLAR

Programs created to foster the success of faculty by developing and reinforcing their scholarship and research methodologies.

CREATOR

Programs providing instruction on the latest tools and technologies available to help faculty leverage their expertise in the classroom and on the national stage.

COLLABORATOR

Programs with an interprofessional focus to help foster institutional collaboration for the overall advancement of UNMC and its mission.
