Free student registrations for Global Health Conference

UNMC students are invited to participate in the Global Health Conference Midwest, sponsored by Creighton University. "Many Communities, One Health" is the theme of the event, which will be held Feb. 3-4. The popular conference features keynote speakers, panels and breakout sessions covering a range of global health topics. New for 2023 is the addition of the Great Plains Native American Health Symposium (GPNAHS).

The Office of Global Engagement (OGE) will pay the registration fee for up to 20 UNMC students to attend the conference.

The conference schedule and registration information can be found at the conference website.

To take advantage of the free student registration from OGE, email Sara Pirtle and indicate that you wish to register for the Global Health Conference Midwest. Identify that you are a UNMC student, along with the name of your program. The deadline to contact Pirtle is the end of the day Thursday, Jan. 26. You will be sent a code to enter at the time of registration, which will waive the registration fee. Free conference registration is limited to the first 20 requestors.
