

Graduate Posts

An electronic newsletter from UNMC Graduate Studies

Spring 2016

A message from the dean

Even the cold winter weather hasn't been able to diminish our excitement about the start of a new year that is full of possibilities for graduate students and alumni. Graduate Studies has many important activities planned for 2016, including more transferrable skills sessions on communication. In addition, our Interdisciplinary Graduate Program in Biomedical Sciences is now accepting applications and the first students will start in the fall.

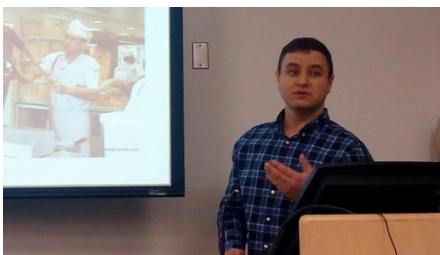

I hope you enjoy this issue of Graduate Posts -- and be sure to watch for more information about our upcoming activities.

H. Dele Davies, M.D.
Dean, Graduate Studies

New International Student Association seeking members

A new group, the International Student Association, is looking for students interested in enhancing cultural competency on campus and ensuring the well-being of UNMC's international students. Click here for more information on the group.

Forums break barriers

New "Breaking Barriers" forums allow international students to share information, dispel myths about their homelands and cultures.

Read more here.

New Writing Center @ UNMC offers writing help to all

In January, the Writing Center @ UNMC held its grand opening at the McGoogan Library of Medicine.

Find out more about the new center here.

Top 7 New Year's resolutions for graduate students

Have any already fallen by the wayside? See the list here.

Convocation ceremony draws family, friends

In December, Graduate Studies marked convocation. See a photo album of the event.

Contact Graduate Studies

Email the Office of Graduate Studies

402-559-6531 (phone)

402-559-7845 (fax)

Learn more about UNMC Graduate Studies.