

Olson Center Brown Bag Speaker Profile: Rebecca Beaudoin, RDN, LMNT

The Food We Eat: Nutrition's Role in Cancer Prevention and Survivorship

Oct. 18, 2022

Rebecca Beaudoin RDN, LMNT is an Outpatient Oncology Nutrition Therapist for the Department of Clinical Nutrition at Nebraska Medicine.

Rebecca completed her Bachelor of Science in Dietetics from the University of Nebraska - Lincoln. She then completed a Dietetic Internship at the Mayo Medical Center in Rochester, MN.

Rebecca manages medical nutrition therapy for patients who are nutritionally complex. She uses skills knowledge, evidence-based practice, and clinical judgement to address prevention, delay or manage acute or chronic diseases and conditions for individuals and groups.

Rebecca is a member of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics while also being a member of the Omaha District of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

If you would like to contact our speaker please email: rbeaudoin@nebraskamed.com

Rebecca Beaudoin's presentation materials can be downloaded at unmc.edu/obgyn/community/brown-bag-handouts