

Olson Center for Women's Health and Nebraska Medicine Cardiovascular Services present

3-part virtual series: Let's Talk Heart Health in Women

Feb. 8, 2024: Coronary Artery Disease (CAD) in Women and Stress Testing

Neha Goyal, MD is an assistant professor in the UNMC Department of Internal Medicine, Division of Cardiovascular Medicine. Dr. Goyal went to medical school at the Maulana Azad Medical College in New Delhi, India, followed by an Internship and Residency in Internal Medicine at Marshall University. She completed her Fellowship in Cardiovascular Diseases at the University of Missouri, followed by an Advanced Cardiovascular Imaging Fellowship at the University of Chicago. Dr. Goyal is board-certified in Internal Medicine, Echocardiography, Cardiovascular Disease, and Nuclear Cardiology.

Feb. 12, 2024: Heart Failure and Women

Christina Dunbar Matos, DO, MS, MPH is an assistant professor in the UNMC Department of Internal Medicine, Division of Cardiovascular Medicine. Dr. Dunbar Mathos completed her Bachelor of Science and Master of Science in Exercise Physiology and her Master of Public Health, all at the West Virginia University of Morgantown, West Virginia. She then completed her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine from the West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine. Dr. Dunbar Mathos completed her Residency in Internal Medicine and her Cardiology Fellowship at Lehigh Valley Health Network in Allentown, Pennsylvania. Dr. Dunbar Mathos is board-certified in Internal Medicine, Cardiology, Nuclear Cardiology, and Advanced Health Failure.

Feb. 21, 2024: Atrial Fibrillation: Understanding the Mechanisms and Treatment Options

Niyada Naksuk, MD is an assistant professor and clinical cardiac electrophysiologist in the UNMC Department of Internal Medicine, Division of Cardiovascular Medicine. Dr. Naksuk completed her medical school education at Mahidol University, Siriraj Hospital in Bangkok, Thailand. She completed her Residency in Internal Medicine at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. She then completed a Cardiovascular Fellowship at the Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and a Clinical Electrophysiology Fellowship at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. Dr. Naksuk is board-certified in Internal Medicine, Cardiovascular Disease, and Clinical Cardiac Electrophysiology.

For additional education on a variety of heart health topics, please visit: nebraskamed.com/heart-month

To schedule an appointment with cardiology, please call (800) 922.0000