

Nebraska Influenza Education for Youth in Agriculture Project - Summary of Evaluation Tools

Website: <https://www.unmc.edu/publichealth/yia/index.html>

Evaluation Tool	Description	Who should complete the evaluation?	Mode of administration
Instructions to Trainers and Training Activity Information Form	The document contains instructions to trainers for the pre- and post-activity evaluation questionnaires on how to administer these evaluations. The trainer should also fill out the training activity information form on the back of the page with the requested information.	Trainers of kids/teens in 4-H/FFA settings	Online or paper questionnaire to be completed at time of event
Pre-Training Questionnaire for Participants of In-Person 4-H or FFA Activities	The pre-activity evaluation questionnaire/survey should be administered before the start of an in-person training event. It contains four knowledge questions meant to determine what the trainees already know about zoonoses before the exercise. If using a paper survey, collect the completed survey questionnaires from the trainees before beginning the exercise. Ensure that each respondent's pre-activity questionnaire/survey has a unique number that can be linked to his/her post-activity questionnaire. This number should correspond to the trainee's number on the activity sign in sheet.	4-H kids and teens FFA members	Online or paper questionnaire to be administered before the in-person training activity
Post-Training Questionnaire for Participants of In-Person 4-H or FFA Activities	The post-activity questionnaire should be administered immediately after the in-person exercise. The pre- and post-activity questionnaires at any single event should be administered using the same mode of administration. For example, if the pre-activity questionnaire was administered online, the post-activity survey for that trainee should be administered online too. For paper surveys, ensure that the two surveys can be identified with the same trainee ID (e.g. staple them together) and from other trainees from activities held at different dates/times.	4-H kids and teens FFA members	Online or paper questionnaire to be administered after the in-person training activity
Evaluation Questionnaire for Online Training of 4-H or FFA Members	The online training questionnaire should be taken after the 4-H or FFA members complete the online training course. Trainers should strongly encourage youth who have not already taken the online training course to do so and to complete the evaluation questionnaire after completion of the course. The online training does not have a pre-activity questionnaire. Trainees should complete both the online course and online evaluation questionnaire. Access Age-Appropriate Online Courses Here: KIDS or TEENS	Kids (7–12) and Teens (13–18) that take online course	Online questionnaire administered after online training