What is Supplemental Instruction?
Supplemental Instruction is an all-encompassing student success program that aides in all aspects of student life to foster academic and professional success.

Services Offered:
- Academic assistance
- Logistical resources
- Preparedness practice
- Support with belonging
- Wellness resources

Who can access Supplemental Instructors?
Any UNMC student seeking additional guidance with coursework and/or extracurricular success encompassing all aspects of becoming a healthy student and mastering content.

We host students of all cultural backgrounds and beliefs to ensure safe and equitable learning opportunities for all, enabling shared perspective, skills and experiences.

How do I get in touch with Supplemental Instructors?
Sessions are scheduled based on a mutual agreement between students and Supplemental Instruction Leaders.

Sessions are currently offered in-person and online.

In-person:
- Michael F. Sorrell Center
- McGoogan Health Sciences Library

Online:
- Via Zoom

Why should I consider Supplemental Instruction?
With Supplemental Instruction, you’ll experience an open forum for questions related to being an efficient and effective student with topics including but not limited to:
- Assisting in lecture/lab content
- Planning/prioritizing time
- Study tactics and resources
- Tools on wellness and stress management
- Advice on navigating student life
